Information and News

Homes England Review Announced

On the 26 June, DLUHC announced a review of Homes England, one of 40 government Arm's Length Bodies chosen for a routine review as part of the Cabinet Office's Public Bodies Review programme.

Homes England was last reviewed in 2016 under the Tailored Review Programme and the work, leadership, structure, and objectives of the agency have evolved considerably since 2016.

The review will examine Homes England's current ways of working, focusing on its structure, compliance and outcomes for stakeholders and customers. How DLUHC works with Homes England will also be reviewed.

The review team will consult with a range of stakeholders, including councils, and will issue further information on its engagement in due course. It is expected to finalise the review and its recommendations by the end of the year.
